Bearing in mind the importance of the Commission's work, the eminence of its members and the method of their election,

Considering that the nature and scope of the work of the Commission are such as to require its members to devote considerable time in attendance at the necessarily long sessions of the Commission,

1. Decides to amend as follows article 13 of the Statute<sup>15</sup> of the International Law Commission:

486 (V). Extension of the term of office of the present members of the International Law Commission

The General Assembly,

Having noted that the present three-year term of office<sup>16</sup> of members of the International Law Commission is not sufficient to enable the Commission to achieve the tasks on which it is engaged before the current period of office expires,

Considering that, in order to enable positive results to be achieved, the term of office of the present members should be extended,

Resolves that, subject to any modifications which the General Assembly may make in the Statute of the International Law Commission, and without prejudice to such modifications, the term of office of the present members of the Commission shall be extended by two years, making a total period of five years from their election in 1948.

Recollecting that the General Assembly, by its resolution 95 (I) of 11 December 1946, unanimously affirmed the principles of international law recognized by the charter and judgment of the Nürnberg Tribunal,

Considering that, by its resolution 177 (II) of 21 November 1947, the General Assembly directed the International Law Commission to formulate those principles, and also to prepare a draft code of offences against the peace and security of mankind,

Considering that the International Law Commission has formulated certain principles recognized, according to the Commission, in the charter and judgment of the Nürnberg Tribunal, and that many delegations have made observations<sup>20</sup> during the fifth session of the General Assembly on this formulation,
