Introduction

1. The Government of Pakistan is honoured to present its Third Universal Periodic Review Report to share progress made by Pakistan in the human rights field from 2012 to 2017 in a spirit of dialogue and constructive engagement with the international community. The report covers developments since the previous review, update on the status of implementation of accepted recommendations, challenges as well as national priorities and commitments for the promotion and protection of human rights.

2. Pakistan's commitment to human rights emanates in the first place from its Constitution and duty towards its people. We are determined to ensure that every Pakistani citizen lives in equality, dignity and freedom. The words of the Founding Father, Quaid-e-Azam Muhammad Ali Jinnah, are the guiding principle of our policy, "We are equal citizens of one State". Therefore, the Government attaches high priority to advancing the mutually reinforcing objectives of development, human rights and democracy and there is a strong and unequivocal political commitment in this regard.

I. Methodology and consultation process

3. The report has been prepared in accordance with the general guidelines for the preparation of information under the universal periodic review, decision 17/119. The report has been prepared by Ministry of Foreign Affairs together with Ministry of Human Rights.

4. The report is the outcome of a broad-based, inclusive and participatory consultation process in which all stakeholders were involved. The Ministry of Human Rights disseminated the recommendations received amongst all relevant federal and provincial stakeholders including Civil Society Organizations (CSOs) and mass media. A systematic and institutionalized process was followed in soliciting information. Matrices were designed and circulated among key line Federal Ministries and Provincial Departments as well as Treaty Implementation Cells (TICs) for implementation. National and Provincial consultative meetings were also arranged at Islamabad and provincial headquarters with the participation of the government officials and CSOs for seeking their input, and finalization of responses.

II. Legal, policy and institutional developments

5. A wide-range of legal, policy and institutional developments took place during the period from 2012 to 2017 details of which are given in response to accepted recommendations. During the period, a number of laws were passed by the Parliament as well as by the provincial assemblies to strengthen human rights (see Annex-I).

6. Within the governance structure of Pakistan, Federally Administered Tribal Areas – FATA- is under the administrative control of federal government. In order to mainstream FATA into national ambit, the Federal Cabinet has recently formulated ten-year socio-economic development plan of FATA which includes, inter alia, repeal of Frontier Crimes Regulation (FCR), establishment of branches of superior judiciary and merger of FATA with Khyber Pakhtunkhwa (KP) province. It will bring FATA into national fold and thereby will enable population of 4.4 million of tribal areas to enjoy fundamental rights enshrined in the constitutional and legal framework of Pakistan.

7. Vision 2025 is considered to be foundation for change and transformation which seeks to provide the social, legal and physical infrastructure needed to empower people and ensure that they are able to live their lives with dignity. It focuses on ending discriminations and provides an enabling environment to all citizens of Pakistan to develop their full potential and share the benefits of economic growth, prosperity and social development.
