Section 4 Disarmament

(Programme 2 of the medium-term plan for the period 2002-2005)

Overview

- 4.1 The mandate for the programme on disarmament stems from the Charter of the United Nations. The Department for Disarmament Affairs, headed by an Under-Secretary-General, is responsible for the implementation of the programme.
- 4.2 The activities for which the Department for Disarmament Affairs is responsible fall within the framework of programme 2, Disarmament, of the medium-term plan for the period 2002-2005, as revised, and relevant resolutions and decisions of the General Assembly in the field of disarmament, including the Final Document of the Tenth Special Session of the General Assembly devoted to disarmament (resolution S-10/2 of 30 June 1978).
- 4.3 As noted in the medium-term plan for the period 2002-2005, while weapons of mass destruction, in particular, nuclear weapons, continue to be the primary concern, the Organization will also continue its work in the field of conventional disarmament. Accordingly, in the biennium 2002-2003, the Department will continue to facilitate the process of multilateral deliberation and negotiation and to assist Member States in promoting, strengthening and consolidating multilaterally negotiated principles and norms in all areas of disarmament. It will promote transparency and confidence-building measures and expand its outreach activities, including through its web site, to ensure the flow of impartial and factual information to the public, to encourage the exchange of information on disarmament and security-related matters among organizations of the United Nations system, Member States, regional organizations and non-governmental organizations and to enhance interaction and cooperation on such matters. The Department will also assist Member States in promoting regional approaches to disarmament and security, including through the regional centres for peace and disarmament and in the efforts to enhance the disarmament expertise of Member States, in particular developing countries.
- 4.4 The Department for Disarmament Affairs seeks to achieve the objectives of the programme by providing substantive organizational support to deliberative and negotiating bodies and their subsidiary bodies as well as to expert groups on disarmament studies by monitoring and assessing current and future trends in the field of disarmament and international security, by providing training and advisory services and by providing assistance and support to Member States in matters related to disarmament. It will seek to achieve gender balance by encouraging Member States to nominate more female candidates for expert groups, for the disarmament fellowship programme and for other meetings and events organized by the Department.
- 4.5 Gender mainstreaming will be built into the activities of the programme. To this end, the Department will request the Office of Human Resources Management and the Office of the Special Adviser on Gender Issues and Advancement of Women to organize a competency development programme on gender mainstreaming. The programme would build on the efforts already made by the Department for Disarmament Affairs, such as the preparation of briefing notes on gender and disarmament, which outline the linkages between gender perspectives and all areas of disarmament.
- 4.6 The proposals under this section take into account the international community's ever-increasing attention to nuclear disarmament, the non-proliferation of both weapons of mass destruction and conventional arms and landmine issues, including the new mandates derived from the General Assembly in those areas.

- 4.7 In accordance with programme 2, Disarmament, of the medium-term plan for the period 2002-2005, the programme budget for disarmament for the biennium 2002-2003 now has five subprogrammes. The programme of work and programme support expenditures were previously commingled and recorded in one account.
- 4.8 The overall level of resources for the Department for Disarmament Affairs for the biennium 2002-2003 amounts to $14,396,100, at 2000-2001 rates, reflecting growth of $575,200. The growth is due primarily to the establishment of three new posts in the Professional category (1 P-5 and 2 P-4) and two new General Service (Other level) posts, the reclassification of one P-4 level post to the P-5 level and increases in the provision for ad hoc expert groups and travel of staff, partially offset by decreases in other areas.
- 4.9 The extrabudgetary resources, amounting to $4,110,800, include an amount of $2,189,200 for the trust fund for the United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research (UNIDIR), $299,100 for programme support costs and $1,622,500 for the convening of workshops, seminars and symposia, information and outreach activities and activities of the three regional disarmament centres.
- 4.10 The percentage distribution of resources under this section is shown in table 4.1.

A. Policy-making organ: the Conference on DisarmamentResource requirements (before recosting): $43,000

- 4.12 The Conference on Disarmament (until 1984 the Committee on Disarmament) was set up in accordance with paragraph 120 of the Final Document of the Tenth Special Session of the General Assembly (resolution S-10/2) as the single multilateral disarmament negotiating forum of the international community. Following the expansions of its membership in 1996 and 1999, the Conference is open to the five nuclear-weapon States and 61 other States, including all militarily significant States. In addition, some 40 non-member States are invited, upon their request, to participate in its work. The Conference on Disarmament conducts its work by consensus, adopts its own rules of procedure, rotates its presidency among all members on a monthly basis, adopts its own agenda taking into account the recommendations made to it by the Assembly and the proposals presented by the members of the Conference and submits a report to the Assembly annually, or more frequently as appropriate. The Conference divides its annual session into three parts and, if necessary, continues its negotiations on priority issues between sessions. Meetings thus take place during seven to nine months each year.

- 4.13 Pursuant to paragraph 120 (c) of the final document, the Secretary-General, following consultations with the Conference on Disarmament, appoints the Secretary-General of the Conference, who also acts as his/her personal representative, to assist the Conference and its presidents in organizing the Conference. As requested by the General Assembly in its resolution 34/83 L of 11 December 1979, the Secretary-General provides staff, as well as the assistance and services needed by the Conference on Disarmament and any subsidiary bodies that it might establish, in accordance with the arrangements contained in its rules of procedure. The secretariat of the Conference consists of officers of the Conference on Disarmament Secretariat and Conference Support Branch (Geneva) of the Department for Disarmament Affairs.
- 4.14 The Conference on Disarmament successfully concluded the negotiations of the Convention on the Prohibition of the Development, Production, Stockpiling and Use of Chemical Weapons and on Their Destruction (1992), as well as the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty (1996), with the participation of all five nuclear-weapon States and other militarily significant States. The Conference is currently conducting a comprehensive review of the priorities in the contemporary international disarmament agenda in order to make them conform to the new international political and security environment. It is also exploring modalities for resuming negotiations on a treaty banning the production of fissile material for nuclear weapons or other nuclear explosive devices, initiated in 1998, as well as ways and means of addressing the issues of nuclear disarmament and prevention of an arms race in outer space. Furthermore, the Conference is expected to continue its negotiations on effective international arrangements to assure non-nuclear-weapon States against the use or threat of use of nuclear weapons; to discuss a ban on the transfer of anti-personnel landmines to complement the Convention on the Prohibition of the Use, Stockpiling, Production and Transfer of Anti-personnel Mines and on Their Destruction; and to continue its efforts in the promotion of transparency in armaments.

Total	42.2	43.0	0	0

- 4.15 The non-post resources provide for the travel of Geneva-based officials to attend meetings of the General Assembly and other consultations and meetings hosted at Headquarters.

B. Executive direction and management

Resource requirements (before recosting): $1,969,800

- 4.16 The Office of the Under-Secretary-General is responsible for the implementation of the programme of work, as well as for the overall direction, supervision and management of the Department, including its financial and administrative activities. The Under-Secretary-General provides the Secretary-General with advice and support on all disarmament and related security matters, represents him/her in that respect as required and provides authoritative analysis and assessment of developments in the field of disarmament and international security for policy guidance and decision-making purposes.
- 4.17 In the exercise of his responsibilities, the Under-Secretary-General is assisted by the Director, who acts as deputy and assumes charge of the Department in the absence of the Under-Secretary-General. The Director advises the Under-Secretary-General and makes recommendations on political, substantive, organizational, administrative, personnel and budgetary matters. The Office of the Director is responsible for coordinating the work of the Department and for its outputs. The Director is accountable to the Under-Secretary-General. Experience gained in operating the Department as a separate entity since 1998 has demonstrated the critical importance of this office to the smooth functioning of the Department and the need for strengthening its capacity to provide dynamic leadership and sound policy guidance.

Total	1 516.7	1 969.8	6	9

- 4.18 The amount of $1,969,800 provides for nine posts, other staff costs and travel. The growth in resources is due to the establishment of three new posts (1 P-5, 1 P-4 and 1 General Service (Other level)), one reclassification from P-4 to P-5 and an increase for travel. This strengthening of the staffing component of the Office will enhance its capacity for policy planning, following up new mandates and improving coordination of the substantive programme of work of the Department.

Accordingly, this subprogramme is aimed at promoting and strengthening regional and subregional initiatives with a view to promoting and strengthening international peace and security.
- 4.36 The subprogramme will be implemented by the Regional Disarmament Branch at the Headquarters, the Regional Centre for Peace and Disarmament in Africa, the Regional Centre for Peace and Disarmament in Asia and the Pacific and the Regional Centre for Peace, Disarmament and Development in Latin America and the Caribbean.

External factors

- 4.37 The subprogramme is expected to achieve its objectives and expected accomplishments on the assumption that: (a) the political environment will be supportive of disarmament efforts; (b) Member States will be willing to implement recommendations; (c) extrabudgetary funding will be pledged and contributed on time (this factor may prove to be critical in light of apparently falling contributions to the regional centres); (d) regional organizations will provide cooperation; (e) sufficient human and financial resources and technical infrastructure will be made available; and (f) national institutions will be supportive of gender balance issues.

Advisory Committee on Administrative and Budgetary Questions (A/54/7, chap. II)
The Advisory Committee recommended that payment of daily subsistence allowance to fellows be monitored in order to ensure that such payments are warranted (para. II.23).	With the assistance of the Compensation and Classification Policy Unit of the Office of Human Resources Management, the Department initiated a process of compiling information for determining whether daily subsistence allowance or a stipend should be paid. Beginning in 2000, the disarmament fellows were required to complete a questionnaire on room and meal costs. The Department plans to make this questionnaire a regular part of the evaluation process of the programme. At this stage, as long as the length of stay in each city continues to be short-term (less than 30 days), making it difficult to arrange for short-term accommodation and necessitating that the fellows pay standard commercial room rates, the Organization will continue to pay daily subsistence allowance in order not to impose hardship on the fellows, particularly those from least developed countries.

Posts

- A.4.2 The amount of $1,874,300, reflecting growth of $395,300, provides for the continuation of four posts in the Professional category and above, two General Service posts and the establishment of one new P-5, one new P-4 and one new General Service (Other level) post in the Office of the Under-Secretary-General, as well as the reclassification of one P-4 post to the P-5 level in the Office of the Director. The new P-5, inter alia, is to advise the Under-Secretary-General on new international developments in the field of disarmament and to be primarily responsible for policy planning in the Office of the Under-Secretary-General, with a view to developing and formulating special projects to address upcoming and topical disarmament issues. The incumbent of this post is also to assist the Under-Secretary-General on specific items at international disarmament meetings and conferences and assess the outcome of such meetings. The functions of the new P-4 post include assisting the Under-Secretary-General in implementing the disarmament components of various mandates derived from the General Assembly and other United Nations organs and in the follow-up of the work of various United Nations bodies and other international organizations regarding issues related to disarmament. The reclassification of the P-4 post to the P-5 level is due to the increased responsibilities delegated to the Director and Deputy to the Under-Secretary-General and the need for the appropriate alignment of support functions at the P-5 level commensurate with those responsibilities. Those support functions include assisting the Director and Deputy to the Under-Secretary-General in the discharge of his/her overall responsibilities by providing analysis and advice on political, programmatic and management matters, coordinating the work of the five branches and providing advice to the chiefs of branches and the directors of the regional centres. The new General Service (Other level) post will provide secretarial and research support to the Office of the Under-Secretary-General and help to alleviate the increased workload.

Other staff costs

- A.4.3 The amount of $35,000, reflecting an increase of $8,600, provides for overtime ($19,400) as well as general temporary assistance for the temporary replacement of General Service staff on maternity leave and extended sick leave and supplementary staffing during periods of peak workload in the Office of the Under-Secretary-General and the Office of the Director, particularly during meetings of intergovernmental bodies ($15,600).

Travel

- A.4.4 The amount of $60,500, reflecting an increase of $49,200, based on recent expenditure patterns, relates to travel of staff to attend meetings of the Secretary-General's Advisory Board on Disarmament Matters in Geneva and to participate in meetings of regional organizations and other conferences and seminars dealing with disarmament issues. It is expected that at least 12 trips will be undertaken during the biennium.

Posts

A.4.27 The amount of $450,800, reflecting growth of $124,300, which includes the delayed impact of the General Service (Professional level) post established in 2000-2001, provides for the continuation of one post in the Professional category and above and two General Service posts and the establishment of a new General Service (Other level) post to assist with financial and budgetary matters as well as with financial arrangements related to the meetings, workshops and conferences serviced by the Department, particularly in the areas of nuclear and conventional disarmament.

Other staff costs

- A.4.28 The amount of $169,600, reflecting a decrease of $354,100, relates to general temporary assistance ($154,600), including a provision for work on the Repertory of Practice of the United Nations, and overtime and night differential ($15,000). The decrease reflects the net effect of changes due to: (a) the reduction of $296,100 related to the one-time resources approved in 2000 in the context of the programme budget implications of the United Nations Conference on the Illicit Trade in Small Arms and Light Weapons in All Its Aspects; (b) a further reduction of $59,900 due to the alleviation of the workload resulting from the addition of a new General Service post; and (c) an increase of $1,900 in the requirements for the work on the Repertory of Practice of the United Nations.

Contractual services

- A.4.29 The amount of $10,700, reflecting a reduction of $78,400, provides for external printing ($6,700) and data-processing services ($4,000). The reduction is due to the fact that most printing jobs will be done in-house, except for those that involve special processes that are not available internally.

General operating expenses

- A.4.30 The amount of $197,800, reflecting a decrease of $3,100, covers the maintenance of office and data-processing equipment ($56,300), communications costs ($95,400), rental of furniture and equipment ($14,100), the rental of premises for meetings of the Standing Advisory Committee on Security Questions in Central Africa ($7,900) and miscellaneous support services ($24,100).

Hospitality

- A.4.31 The amount of $13,300, at the maintenance level, relates to official functions organized by the Department at meetings of the Advisory Board on Disarmament Matters, the Standing Advisory Committee on Security Questions in Central Africa, the Disarmament Commission, the First Committee and the disarmament fellowship programme.

Supplies and materials

- A.4.32 The amount of $21,500, at the maintenance level, provides for stationery and office supplies ($11,400), library books and subscriptions for the disarmament library ($10,100).
