2. Association of Medical Doctors of Asia

Special consultative status granted 1995

AMDA (the Association of Medical Doctors of Asia) is a non-governmental, non-profit and non-sectarian organization promoting health and welfare for people in need. Incepted on Aug. 1, 1984 in Okayama, Japan. AMDA's network today encompasses 30 chapters and 14 main project offices in the world. The organization aims to contribute to the world peace through emergency medical relief activities and long-term development programmes consistent with local needs and priorities. Founded on the principle of "sogo-fujo", a Japanese term for mutual assistance, AMDA fosters international network of partnership in its pursuit of peaceful coexistence of diversity throughout the world. Below is a brief summary of AMDA's projects in collaboration with UN bodies and specialized agencies over the past four years, from 1999 to 2002.

- Djibouti (Care & Maintenance Assistance to Refugees in Djibouti) ; AMDA's presence in Africa dates back to 1993 in the aftermath of the influx of Somali and Ethiopian refugees into Djibouti in the early 90s. AMDA continues to play a vital role in the refugee camps of Ali-Add6 and Holl-Holl in Djibouti as the sole UNHCR implementing agency in the health sector. Consistent with the agreement reached by UNHCR, ONARS (The Government's Office National d'assistance aux Refugiés et Sinistrés) and AMDA in 1994, AMDA provides the refugees with comprehensive medical and health programmes. The medical team includes two expatriate doctors actively involved in the daily programme as well as in the capacity building programme for local medical staff and volunteers.

Angola (Emergency Intervention for M'Banza Congo Provincial Hospital) :In August 2000 AMDA was commissioned by UNHCR to assist MBanza Congo Provincial Hospital in Angola in their restoration efforts and implementation of medical services to local population including internally displaced people. The project focused on four areas of activities: capacity building of the hospital staff, distribution and maintenance of essential drugs and medical equipments, primary health care activities, restoration and maintenance of key provisional facilities including water/sanitation and electricity. AMDA's project also included a training programme in conjunction with UNFPA providing training to maternity nurses of provincial hospital on reproductive health and major diseases. In the primary health care activities, AMDA worked with UNICEF in supplying and educating people on nutrition. Emergency & Trypanosomiasis Units in M'Banza Congo Provincial Hospital: AMDA collaborated with OCHA in another project carried out in Angola for the period of ten months from Jun. 2001 to Mar. 2002 with a special purpose to assist trypanosomiasis and emergency units of the MBanza Congo Provincial Hospital in Zaire Province. While providing the emergency and trypanosomiasis units with medicine and medical equipment, AMDA also contributed in strengthening these two units through training programme for local medical professionals led by the medical experts of AMDA's multi-national team. To promote early detection of trypanosomiasis, AMDA, in collaboration with OCHA, carried out screening campaigns in M'Banza Congo, the provincial capital, and Noqui, bordering city to the Democratic Republic of Congo.

Kosovo, Serbia and Montenegro (Hospital Rehabilitation Programme)

In the turbulent years following the breakup of Yugoslavia, this place has undergone major transitions in various social sectors. In the summer of 1999, AMDA started its emergency medical relief project for the refugees returning from neighbouring states. In November 2001, "Hospital Rehabilitation Programme" (HRP) has officially begun under the leadership of UNDP and AMDA as its executing partner. The organization has worked closely with UNDP in improving quality of health service at four family health centres in the Municipalities of Prizren, Peje/Pec, Albana and Istoq/Istok. AMDA also partnered with WHO and local Ministry of Health in the "Family Medicine Specialization Programme" in their efforts to improve the quality of medical professionals in Kosovo (Serbia and Montenegro).

Myanmar (Behaviour Change for Prevention of HIV/AIDS): The relentless spread of HIV and its subsequent devastating impact on all aspects of human lives has become a serious social issue of today. To cope with this alarming situation, AMDA has implemented HIV/AIDS prevention projects in several countries in Asia, Africa and South America and has produced substantive results. Because of the geographical and the social conditions of the region, the central dry zone of Myanmar faces potential risks in this regard. AMDA has been preliminarily working on this issue with such partners as UNICEF and MOH. Towards the end of this year, with a support from UNAIDS, AMDA will undertake several activities in counselling, education and other preventive measures against the spread of HIV/AIDS by focusing on behaviour change approach.

Nepal (Eastern Nepal AMDA Hospital and Primary Health Care Project for Bhutanese Refugees): In Nepal AMDA has begun its operation in Damak, located in the eastern part of the country. Originally built in 1992 for the Bhutanese refugees, AMDA's secondary health care centre has been operating as a certified general hospital in providing medical service to refugees and local people. In 2001 AMDA reinforced surgery department of the hospital by dispatching a surgical team and upgrading services. UNHCR has been assisting AMDA in its programme for refugees implemented at the hospital. AMDA has also been commissioned by UNHCR the primary health project for 100,000 Bhutanese refugees in the seven camps in Jhapa and adjacent districts since 2001. General health care including nutritional supplements have been provided to Bhutanese refugees. PHASE (Primary Health Advancement through Sustained Empowerment) To support the Nepalese in their struggle against poverty, UN has launched a programme called "Advancement of Women and Gender Equity." As part of the programme, in September, 2000, AMDA in collaboration with UNDP in its Participatory District Development Project (PDDP), has initiated an educational project in general health, maternity care and literacy programme for women in rural area of Rupandehi District.

Pakistan (Afghan Refugees Camps in Mohammad Kheil and Latif Abad)

The beneficiaries of our projects in Pakistan have been Afghan refugees and some mixed minorities from other neighbouring countries. Some of these refugees have been in the country for more than twenty years while others arrived in the country following the Sep. 11 events in 2001 and the subsequent air strikes on Afghanistan resulting in population shift across the country. To cope with these refugees, AMDA, in cooperation with UNHCR, has been working in the two camps of Mohammad Kheil and Latif Abad in health and nutrition sectors since December 2001. While continuing with health screening for refugees, AMDA is offering OPD services through a Basic Health Unit (BHU) in the above two camps. In addition to these services, AMDA has implemented medical referral system for refugee patients involving twelve other camps of the region.

UNV in Kenya, Zambia and Honduras: AMDA, in full support for W s mission to promote volunteerism in development programmes, dispatched four staff members to Kenya, Zambia and Honduras during the past four years. These UN Volunteers were jointly financed by UNV, Japan International Cooperation Agency and AMDA .

AMDA International will celebrate its 20th anniversary next year. The Executive Board of AMDA would like to take this opportunity to express gratitude to all those who worked together for the humanitarian causes. Especially, the United Nations and its agencies, have been AMDA's most trusted partners and without their cooperation and assistance AMDA's past accomplishments were not possible. AMDA will carry on its endeavour in its quest "for better quality of life for a better Future" as stated in its slogan.

3. Caritas Internationalis — International Confederation of Catholic Charities

General Consultative Status Granted 1999

Caritas Internationalis (CI) is a confederation of 163 Catholic relief, development and social service organizations present in 198 countries and territories. (Please note, the above-mentioned figure is as from 1 July 2003, after the CI general assembly). CI maintains direct links with the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations (FAO), the World Food Programme (WFP), the United Nations Education, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO), the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS (UNAIDS), the United Nations Children's Fund (UNICEF) and the International Labour Organization (ILO) (Special List). Its headquarters is situated in the Vatican, but it has offices in Geneva and New York. In New York, CI follows closely the work of the Security Council and the Committee on the Exercise of the Inalienable Rights of the Palestinian People. It took an active part in each session of the Preparatory Committee for the special session of the General Assembly entitled "World Summit for Social Development and beyond: achieving social development for all in a globalizing world" ("Copenhagen Plus Five"), held in Geneva. It participated in similar fashion in the entire process leading up to the International Conference on Financing for Development, held in 2002 in Monterrey. In Geneva, CI has participated for several years in the sessions of the Commission of Human Rights. In addition, at least 20 of its member organizations are implementing agencies or partners of the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) and WFP. CI also has representatives accredited to the United Nations in Vienna and to UNESCO.

In October 2002, at the invitation of Mr. Nitin Desai, Under-Secretary-General for Economic and Social Affairs, the General Secretary of CI Mr. Duncan MacLaren took part in the second International Forum for Social Development in New York. His statement focused on social development based on human dignity and the role of civil society. He also spoke about peacebuilding and reconciliation and the links between trade and social development. He concluded by calling for the establishment of an economic and social council.

On 27 June 2000, at the special session of the General Assembly on the implementation of the outcome of the World Summit for Social Development ("Copenhagen Plus Five"), CI delivered a joint statement with the network International Cooperation for Development and Solidarity (CIDSE) on achieving greater social justice.

As in the case of "Copenhagen Plus Five", CI took part in each session of the Preparatory Committee for the International Conference on Financing for Development. CI made several joint statements in the plenary meetings with the CIDSE network and other organizations. CI and CIDSE also organized side events during the breaks, giving delegates the opportunity to participate in panels (one dealt with global governance and another with poor countries' debt).

CI also participated, albeit to a lesser extent, in the World Conference against Racism, Racial Discrimination, Xenophobia and Related Intolerance (Durban, 2001) and the World Summit on Sustainable Development (Johannesburg, 2002).

At the Commission on Human Rights in Geneva, in recent years CI has spoken and/or distributed information on the situation of Iraqi children, child soldiers in Sierra Leone, the humanitarian situation in Palestine and trafficking in persons.

In addition, CI and its members have corresponded with and addressed letters to the Secretary-General of the United Nations Mr. Kofi Annan expressing their support for the Monterrey Consensus and welcoming his intention to provide adequate support for the follow-up to the Financing Conference.

In September 2002, CI took part in the United Nations International Conference of Civil Society in Support of the Palestinian People. It is currently preparing to participate in the September 2003 conference.

As stated above, several CI member organizations are implementing agencies for WFP. In 2002, CI participated in the consultations between WFP and civil society. The leaders of CI and WFP meet at least once a year.

In parallel with this work, CI maintains links with the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund and has had several meetings with the staff of the two institutions over the past four years. Our priorities for 2003-2007 include global governance, hunger, economic justice, peace, AIDS (CI and UNAIDS recently renewed their memorandum of understanding, which was also approved by the Holy See), trafficking in persons and, of course, humanitarian relief.

4. International Federation of ACAT (Action by Christians for the Abolition of Torture)

Special consultative status granted 1995

Existence and goals

The International Federation of ACAT (IFACAT) was established in 1987 to campaign throughout the world and by all appropriate legal means against torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment, including capital punishment, based on article 5 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights. IFACAT was granted special consultative status with the Economic and Social Council in 1995. Before then, IFACAT and its main national associations already took part in symposiums and expert seminars aimed at providing the United Nations over time with mechanisms to combat the scourge of torture and its causes, including the Committee against Torture and the Special Rapporteur on torture. Subsequently, it was actively involved in the Working Group that elaborated the Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment, adopted by General Assembly on 18 December 2002.

Composition and geographical distribution

As an international federation, IFACAT brings together national associations whose goals are compatible with its statutes.

As at late 2002, it had 21 affiliated associations and 6 in the process of becoming affiliated. It also maintains links with correspondents in various countries of the world.

International leadership

IFACAT is based in Paris. Mr. Patrick Byrne, who has dual British and French nationality, has served as President since November 1998. In addition to the President, the international bureau comprises members from Burkina Faso, Canada, the Central African Republic, Switzerland and France.

Independence

IFACAT is independent of all governments, partisan organizations and religious institutions. It is financed by dues from its affiliated associations and by donations. From time to time, it may receive a grant or assistance in kind for an international project (a symposium or training session, for example) from a State, the European Union, the United Nations, or a Christian foundation or organization.

National human rights commissions

Some of the affiliated associations are involved in their countries' national human rights commissions, in their areas of specialization.

Participation in the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies and/or conferences and other United Nations meetings

Commission on Human Rights

Each year, IFACAT participates in the sessions of the Commission and contributes to its work by presenting written and oral statements on agenda items dealing with torture and capital punishment from a geographic and thematic point of view.

In addition to statements made jointly with other organizations or delivered orally, the main contributions of IFACAT are as follows:

- 2000: "Abolition of the death penalty" (E/CN.4/2000/NGO/107)
"Torture and detention in Brazil and the Democratic Republic of the Congo" (E/CN.4/2000/NGO/138)
- 2001: "Ratification of the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment" (E/CN.4/2001/NGO/181)
"Torture and detention in Chechnya (Russian Federation) and the Moluccas (Indonesia)" (E/CN.4/2001/NGO/180)
- 2002: "Terrorism and torture" (E/CN.4/2002/NGO/144)
"Standing invitations" (E/CN.4/2002/NGO/111)
"Torture and detention in the Democratic Republic of the Congo and Cameroon" (E/CN.4/2002/NGO/143)

IFACAT also cooperates closely with the Special Rapporteur on torture and other cruel, inhuman or degrading treatment or punishment, the Special Rapporteur on extrajudicial, summary or arbitrary executions, the Working Group on Enforced or Involuntary Disappearances and the Special Representative of the Secretary-General on human rights defenders. It sends them information and publicizes their appeals and annual reports. It also assisted, through ACAT Brazil, in the preparation of the mission of the Special Rapporteur on torture to Brazil in 2000.

Subcommission on the Promotion and Protection of Human Rights

IFACAT participates regularly in the Subcommission's sessions and follows attentively its work on agenda items dealing with torture and capital punishment. It is very attached to this learned assembly of experts, who, by virtue of their independence and objectivity, can be kept informed about the serious situations reported by our network of affiliated associations without making assumptions or jumping to conclusions.

Committees: Committee against Torture, Human Rights Committee, Committee on the Rights of the Child

IFACAT follows closely the work of these Committees and the periodic reports submitted by governments. It collaborates with the Committees' experts and attends public meetings whenever it or its affiliated associations have information that could assist a committee in its consideration of a State party's report. It also monitors, through its national associations, the implementation of Committee recommendations on the ground.

In 1999, IFACAT provided information that contradicted aspects of the periodic reports submitted by Luxemburg and Mexico to the Committee against Torture.

In 2001, ACAT France, which is affiliated to IFACAT, alerted the Committee against Torture to the case of an Algerian national residing in France who was awaiting deportation.

In 2002, IFACAT made observations to the Committee on the Rights of the Child concerning the periodic report of Spain, to the Committee against Torture concerning the periodic reports of Luxemburg and Sweden and to the Human Rights Committee concerning the periodic report of Togo.

Working Group on the Draft Optional Protocol to the Convention against Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment

IFACAT was actively involved in the sessions and activities of the Working Group until the final session and subsequently followed the process leading to the adoption of the Optional Protocol, along with the NGO coalition backing the project. IFACAT has supported this proposal for a system of visits to places of detention by national and international mechanisms — the future Subcommittee on Prevention of Torture and Other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment — since its conception in the 1970s.

Building on its experience of collaboration with the European Committee for the Prevention of Torture and Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment, IFACAT is preparing to assist future visiting mechanisms in carrying out their missions effectively. Training sessions have already been organized within our network of affiliated associations.

Diplomatic Conference of Plenipotentiaries on the Establishment of an International Criminal Court (Rome, 1998)

IFACAT, having put great effort into the NGO coalition that endeavoured both before and during the Conference to bring about the decision to create a permanent international criminal court and the adoption of the related statute, continues to observe closely the activities undertaken for the establishment and effective operation of the International Criminal Court.

It is raising awareness among its national associations of the functioning of this new institution. The associations are invited to lobby their governments to deposit instruments of ratification (if they have not yet done so) and to incorporate the provisions of the Statute in domestic law.

Cooperation with United Nations bodies and specialized agencies

The national associations in Africa have links with the United Nations Development Programme (UNDP) and have received support from UNDP for some of their activities.

Other relevant activities

Action in implementation of United Nations resolutions

The following resolutions are considered priorities by virtue of their implications:

- General Assembly resolution 53/105 on the establishment of the International Criminal Court: see above — Diplomatic Conference of Plenipotentiaries on the Establishment of an International Criminal Court (Rome, 1998);

- General Assembly resolution 52/149 of 12 December 1997 on the United Nations International Day in Support of Victims of Torture: IFACAT, in collaboration with other NGOs belonging to the Coalition of International NGOs against Torture (CINAT), is conducting a campaign for universal ratification of the Convention against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment and for the communications procedures established under articles 21 and 22 of that instrument. It urges its national associations to observe the International Day in Support of Victims of Torture on 26 June in their countries;

- Commission on Human Rights resolution 2002/38 concerning the draft optional protocol to the Convention against Torture and other Cruel, Inhuman or Degrading Treatment or Punishment, which followed a succession of earlier resolutions and the Vienna Declaration and Programme of Action, adopted by the World Conference on Human Rights (Vienna, 1993);

- Commission on Human Rights resolution 2002/77 on the question of the death penalty: as a member of the World Coalition against the Death Penalty, IFACAT pays particular attention to the implementation of this resolution. It has undertaken a number of activities to this end (letters to governments, awareness-raising, etc.).

Consultations and cooperation with the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights (OHCHR)

IFACAT maintains links with OHCHR and provides information to its staff. Where there is an OHCHR office in a country that has a national association, the national association also maintains links with that office (in Cameroon, Mexico and the Democratic Republic of the Congo, for example).

In 2000, ACAT Canada collected 60,000 signatures for its campaign against the sexual exploitation of children. The purpose of the petition was to support the efforts under way to secure the adoption of the Optional Protocol to the Convention on the Rights of the Child on that issue. Representatives of the association travelled to Geneva, together with 12 children, to present the signatures to the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights.

IFACAT provides information on funding needs to the United Nations Voluntary Fund for Victims of Torture, or itself provides funding support, in particular for specific treatment centres established by its national associations, along with other organizations: the Integrated Care Programme for Victims of Torture (PAIST) in Mexico and Brazil, the Trauma Centre in Cameroon and the Centre Primo Levi in France. It also prepares documents and/or material at the request of the Economic and Social Council and its subsidiary bodies, or of the Secretariat of the United Nations.

Other examples of consultative and substantive activities, including financial assistance received from or given to the United Nations, field-level collaboration, joint sponsorship of seminars, studies, etc.

Since 1996, IFACAT, in collaboration with the Catholic University of Central Africa and the Institute of Human Rights in Lyons, has offered a biennial cycle of programmes for African human rights trainers and leaders, which takes place in Africa (Yaoundé, Cotonou, Dakar, etc.). The first session is devoted to practical courses and workshops, including a course on United Nations human rights protection mechanisms and a workshop on the role of NGOs in the United Nations. It is followed by jointly sponsored intersessional projects. The second session deals with project evaluation and a collective review. This human rights education and inculcation programme in Africa receives support from the Office of the United Nations High Commissioner for Human Rights, including in the form of documentation. In August 2002, IFACAT organized an international seminar in Dakar on “African cultures and efforts to combat torture”. On that occasion, a workshop on the United Nations was offered for participants. IFACAT reports regularly on United Nations activities in its bulletin FIACAT News and in the in-depth human rights studies it publishes. It also discusses such matters in its yearly progress report and in its training manuals. Courrier de l’ACAT France also reports on United Nations activities and resolutions. In addition, the IFACAT web site contains the texts of various international legal instruments relating to the organization’s mandate and information on the different United Nations bodies with which it collaborates.

The investigation was carried out in five cities Quito, Tulcan, Quevedo, Machala and Loja. The final objective of the project was the presentation of an integral proposal on penitentiary, useful politics so that government's authorities elaborate in an integral plan of attention to the penitentiary system conjunction.

It was an extensive process in the time that, having like base the development of an investigation on the situation of the women in conflict with the penal law, at the same time had immediate impact on the march of the project that they repair the flagrant violations.
