^a The contents of each force group is explained below.

^b All strategic forces are contained in the Army, Navy and Air Force columns.

^c Department of Homeland Security outlays, excluding defence-related activities.

^d Additional civilian pay in military construction, family housing, research, development, testing and evaluation, and revolving and management funds is ~30 per cent.

^e All atomic energy defence activities, including weapons, materials production, naval reactor development and verification/control technology.

^f Includes the cost of defence family housing.

Notes:

1. The military expenditures (actual outlays) are of the individual military departments (Army, Navy, Air Force) and the defence agencies within the Department of Defense, as well as the Department of Energy (for defence nuclear programmes) and the Department of Homeland Security (for defence-related activities). Civil defence expenditures are those for non-defence-related activities from the Department of Homeland Security budget, since fiscal year 2002. (Prior to fiscal year 1995, civil defence expenditures were from the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) budget.)
2. These expenditures are entered for each force group in the United Nations instrument as follows:

Strategic forces (column 1):	These forces do not have a separate service or military department in the United States; therefore, spending data are not readily available for them. All resources for strategic offensive, defensive, and command, control and communications forces are contained in the budgets of the Air Force, Navy, and Army.
Land forces (column 2):	The budget of the Department of the Army.
Naval forces (column 3):	The budget of the Department of the Navy, including the Navy and the Marine Corps.
Air forces (column 4):	The budget of the Department of the Air Force.
Other military forces (column 5):	Not applicable — all active and reserve military forces are financed from the above military service budgets.
Central support administration and command (column 6):	The budgets of the defence agencies (Office of the Secretary of Defense, Defense Logistics Agency, Defense Information Systems Agency, Defense Contract Audit Agency, etc.) which provide defence-wide support and general administration.
United Nations Peacekeeping (column 7):	Includes outlays for support of United Nations peacekeeping forces.
Military assistance and cooperation (column 8):	Includes foreign military financing, economic support fund, and other programmes in the category “international security assistance”, Budget of the United States Government, Fiscal Year 2014.
Emergency aid to civilians (column 9):	Included in total military forces cost; not separately provided.
Undistributed (column 10):	Department of Energy, outlays of the National Nuclear Security Administration, environmental and other defence activities. Since fiscal year 2002, also includes Department of Homeland Security outlays for defence-related activities, including Coast Guard, and infrastructure protection and information security.
