

Economic and Social Council

Distr.: General
14 December 2022

Original: English

Commission on the Status of Women

Sixty-seventh session

6–17 March 2023

Follow-up to the Fourth World Conference on Women and to the twenty-third special session of the General Assembly entitled “Women 2000: gender equality, development and peace for the twenty-first century”

Statement submitted by Social Empowerment for Economic Development (S.E.E.D), a non-governmental organization in consultative status with the Economic and Social Council*

The Secretary-General has received the following statement, which is being circulated in accordance with paragraphs 36 and 37 of Economic and Social Council resolution 1996/31.

* The present statement is issued without formal editing.

Statement

The organisation wants to appreciate the relationship we have with United Nation women council on issues if women empowerment as an organization our focus and purpose is to see how women can be more empowered through sustainable skill programs which helps in the long run the fight of poverty and hunger in our communities, the empowerment of women is the only key were we can have families transformed our role as an organization is to facilitate this women who need our support in committed and counties were we operate but that takes and needs an effective cooperation between United Nations and its subsidiary bodies as some of this project requires financial injection or support in order to achieve the expected goals and objectives effectively, its it's also our call to appreciate the effort to allow us participate in such programs as United Nations because it build the gaps which are left by some of our democratic leadership in counties and communities we represent further more its will be also my call that in future let the United Nations on this annual conference see how they can assist to facilitate for out travel expenses in one way or the other as you know some of us we come we some countries and countries were there is extreme poverty and we can some time be supported to see the we can be such an input and make it to such conferences in order to achieving together the expected goals.

The main issue I would like to stress on is to see how we can help this women with capital and technical support in order to drive them out of poverty, illiteracy, we need to embark on projects that will help this women be independent as women so that the abuse and domestic violence caused on them due to the syndrome of dependency, we need to bring back their self esteem and this all can be achieved through radical and social economic empowerment both in education and financial capital for entrepreneurship projects.

Our call is to forge more decisive effort and commitment in the work we do as I have said before that organization like ours which advocate for women issues we need more support from United Nations and its subsidiary bodies financial support in order to be able to carry out our work on ground more effectively and efficiently.

Our representation here is a key commitment for future effort and through this unity and social cohesion is a simple for a divine transformation, with an expectation to touch lives and transform communities of single mothers and protection of women rights globally.
