II. CONSIDERATION OF PROPOSALS

Draft resolution A/C.1/46/L.53 and draft decision A/C.1/46/L.54

5. On 26 November 1991, Algeria, Cuba, Egypt, Indonesia, Pakistan and Yugoslavia submitted a draft resolution entitled "Review of the implementation of the Declaration on the Strengthening of International Security" (A/C.1/46/L.53), which read as follows:

"The General Assembly,

"Recalling its resolution 45/80 of 12 December 1990,

"Conscious that the present stage of mankind's development, distinctive for its technological, economic and political changes, is conducive to making accelerated progress towards the building of a more peaceful, secure, just, equitable, democratic and humane world,

"Reaffirming the purposes and principles of the Charter of the United Nations, in particular the respect for the sovereignty, territorial integrity and independence of States, non-use or threat of use of force in international relations, non-intervention, peaceful settlement of international disputes, equal rights and the right to self-determination of all peoples under colonial and racist regimes and foreign occupation, as well as the principle of the sovereign equality of States,

"Stressing that respect for the purposes and principles of the Charter and for international law, general and complete disarmament, the relaxation of international tension, enhanced international cooperation for economic and social development, including global cooperation for environmentally sound development, the complete eradication of colonialism, apartheid and all forms of racism and racial discrimination, and respect for human rights, are closely interrelated in providing the basis for international peace and security,

"Welcoming the continuing positive changes at the global level characterized by the end of the cold war, the relaxation of tensions and the emergence of a new spirit governing international relations, which open new vistas for the promotion of world peace and international cooperation,

"Welcoming also in this context, that a number of conflicts are being resolved through negotiations in an atmosphere of understanding and cooperation,

"Expressing at the same time its serious concern over the persisting conflicts and problems and the new emerging threats to international peace and security and its support for all efforts towards a peaceful and just resolution of hotbeds of crisis in the world,

"Stressing the imperative need for disarmament, particularly nuclear disarmament, in both its qualitative and quantitative dimensions, towards the achievement of the final objective of general and complete disarmament under effective international control,

"Considering that there can be no stable and lasting peace and security in the world without the resolution of grave economic problems, particularly the requirements of economic development of developing countries,

"Stressing that the promotion of freedom and human rights is one of the basic objectives of the world community, and emphasizing, in this context, that apartheid and all forms of racism have to be eradicated,

"Reaffirming the inalienable right to self-determination and independence of all peoples under colonial and racist regimes and foreign occupation, as well as the legitimacy of their struggle,

"Stressing that the emerging system of international security should be rooted in the purposes and principles of the Charter,

"Reaffirming that the United Nations is the fundamental instrument for regulating international relations and resolving international problems and that its main organs, particularly the Security Council, are responsible for the maintenance and effective promotion of international peace and security,

"Stressing the importance of the strengthening of the cooperation between the United Nations and regional organizations,

"1. Reaffirms the Declaration on the Strengthening of International Security, and the need for its implementation;

"2. Reaffirms also that all States must abide, in their international relations, by the Charter of the United Nations and its purposes and principles;

"3. Stresses the principles of respect for sovereignty, territorial integrity and independence of States, non-use or threat of use of force in international relations, non-intervention and non-interference, peaceful settlement of international disputes, equal rights and the right to self-determination of all peoples under colonial and racist regimes and foreign occupation, as well as the principle of the sovereign equality of States, as enshrined in the Charter;

"4. Stresses the need for further strengthening of the role of the United Nations in the maintenance of peace and security and promoting respect for international law, as well as in economic and social development and progress for the benefit of mankind;

"5. Calls upon all States to seek, through utilization of the means provided for in Chapter VI of the Charter, the peaceful settlement of disputes and the elimination of the focal points of crisis and tension, which constitute a threat to international peace and security;

"6. Urges all States, in particular the nuclear-weapon States and other militarily significant States, to take further immediate action towards the final objective of achieving general and complete disarmament under effective international control;

"7. Reaffirms that the democratization of international relations is an imperative necessity, and stresses its belief that the United Nations offers the best framework for the promotion of this goal;

"8. Requests the Secretary-General to prepare, on the basis of the views received from the Member States, a study on the ways and means for strengthening international security on the basis of the Charter, and to submit it to the General Assembly at its forty-seventh session;

"9. Decides to include in the provisional agenda of its forty-seventh session the item entitled Review of the implementation of the Declaration on the Strengthening of International Security."

6. At the request of the sponsors, no action was taken on draft resolution A/C.1/46/L.53 (see A/C.1/46/PV.44).

7. At the 44th meeting, on 27 November, Algeria, Cuba, Egypt, India, Indonesia, Madagascar, Pakistan, Yugoslavia and Zimbabwe submitted a draft decision entitled "Review of the implementation of the Declaration on the Strengthening of International Security". At the same meeting, the draft decision was introduced by the representative of Yugoslavia.

8. At the same meeting, the Committee adopted draft decision A/C.1/46/L.54 without a vote (see para. 9).

III. RECOMMENDATION OF THE FIRST COMMITTEE

9. The First Committee recommends to the General Assembly the adoption of the following draft decision:

Review of the implementation of the Declaration on the Strengthening of International Security

The General Assembly

1. Reaffirms the Declaration on the Strengthening of International Security; ^{1/}
2. Recalls its previous resolutions on this item, the latest of which is resolution 45/80 of 12 December 1990;
3. Invites Member States to provide their views on the implementation of the Declaration on the Strengthening of International Security, and requests the Secretary-General to submit a report to the General Assembly at its 47th session;
4. Decides to include in the provisional agenda of its 47th session the item entitled "Review of the implementation of the Declaration on the Strengthening of International Security".

^{1/} Resolution 2734 (XXV).
