Resolution 54/2

Promoting international cooperation to prevent drug-affected driving

The Commission on Narcotic Drugs,

Recalling its resolution 51/2 of 14 March 2008, in which the Commission considered the harmful consequences of driving under the influence of cannabis,

Recalling also General Assembly resolution 64/255 of 2 March 2010, in which the Assembly proclaimed the period 2011-2020 as the Decade of Action for Road Safety, and the declaration adopted at the first Global Ministerial Conference on Road Safety, held in Moscow on 19 and 20 November 2009,

Welcoming the Global Plan for the Decade of Action for Road Safety 2011-2020, which underscores the growing problem posed to road safety, particularly in developing countries, and includes as one of its pillars for action a call for safer road users, to be achieved by, inter alia, developing comprehensive programmes, sustaining or increasing enforcement of laws and standards and increasing public awareness and education programmes,

Recognizing the importance of addressing the health and public safety consequences of drug-affected driving by encouraging the exchange of information and know-how on evidence-based responses,

Recognizing also that the current lack of national data regarding the extent of the problem of drug-affected driving is preventing public awareness of the issue in many countries,

Recognizing further that the current lack of information on drug-affected driving, in some countries, prevents the deployment of effective responses aimed at, inter alia, raising awareness among relevant target groups, enhancing enforcement options and reducing the risk of accidents,

Welcoming the activities of Member States that are making efforts to raise public awareness, develop standardized and reliable means of testing for impairment in drivers affected by drugs, collect data on crash victims who were using drugs at or near the time of the accident, conduct roadside testing and enact and enforce national laws to prevent drug-affected driving,

1. Urges Member States, where appropriate, to develop national responses to address the issue of drug-affected driving, by assessing and monitoring the magnitude of this phenomenon at the national level and by exchanging information and best practices on effective responses, including through engagement with the international scientific and legal communities, while respecting the principles of human dignity and physical integrity and relevant ethical considerations;

2. Encourages Member States to support national and international efforts to collect global prevalence data, in accordance with relevant data-protection legislation, develop effective roadside testing options to assess drug-affected driving, consistent with their legal framework, raise public awareness and increase safety by developing, where appropriate, a coherent and comprehensive strategy to decrease the occurrence of drug-affected driving, including through collaborative efforts that include academia, the private sector, professional associations, non-governmental organizations, civil society, national Red Cross and Red Crescent societies, victims organizations, youth organizations and the media;

3. Underscores the importance of prevention and enforcement measures that tackle the phenomenon of drug-affected driving being focused on increasing road safety and the need for such measures to be deployed in coherence with the enforcement of measures tackling other road safety risks, such as driving under the influence of alcohol;

4. Invites Member States to take notice of existing research standards developed at the national and international levels, which improve the quality, comparability, reliability and utility of research findings in this field;

5. Urges Member States interested in this issue to participate in the first international symposium on drug-impaired driving, to be held in Montreal, Canada, on 17 and 18 July 2011, by sending national delegations that include researchers and governmental policymakers;

6. Encourages Member States to provide the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime with relevant global data, where appropriate and in full respect of existing data protection legislation, on the prevalence of drug-affected driving, as well as the methodologies used to collect such data, and requests the Office to submit to the Commission, at its fifty-fifth session, a report on the submissions received and to work with other relevant international organizations in the preparation of this report;

7. Requests the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, subject to the availability of extrabudgetary resources and in accordance with the present resolution, to participate fully in the efforts by the international community to implement the Global Plan for the Decade of Action for Road Safety 2011-2020;

8. Also requests the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to incorporate, as appropriate, public awareness of the public safety issue of drug-affected driving into future public awareness programmes, which may include awareness of the legal situation, including law enforcement methods and the likelihood of being detected, together with the consequences of the dangers of drug abuse, and further requests the Office to coordinate those efforts with its field offices;

9. Invites Member States and other donors to provide extrabudgetary resources for these purposes, in accordance with the rules and procedures of the United Nations.

Resolution 54/3

Ensuring the availability of reference and test samples of controlled substances at drug testing laboratories for scientific purposes

The Commission on Narcotic Drugs,

Recognizing the important role entrusted to the International Narcotics Control Board, in accordance with article 9, paragraph 4, of the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs of 1961 as amended by the 1972 Protocol,⁶

Recalling the Convention on Psychotropic Substances of 1971,⁷ in which it is recognized that the use of psychotropic substances for scientific purposes is indispensable and that their availability for such purposes should not be unduly restricted,

Recalling also its resolution 53/4 of 12 March 2010, in which the Commission stressed the importance of promoting adequate availability of internationally controlled drugs for scientific purposes while preventing their diversion and abuse,

Noting the requirements to meet the scientific needs for internationally controlled substances worldwide within a regulatory and legal framework that prevents their diversion and abuse,

Recognizing the important role of drug analysis laboratories as part of drug control systems and the value of laboratory results, in accordance with Commission resolutions 50/4 of 16 March 2007 and 52/7 of 20 March 2009,

Recognizing also that the reliability of the analysis and results of such laboratories has significant implications for the justice system, law enforcement and preventive health care, as well as for the international harmonization of data and worldwide exchange and coordination of drug information, and that access to reference samples of controlled substances is an essential quality assurance requirement for achieving such reliability,

⁶ United Nations, Treaty Series, vol. 976, No. 14152.

⁷ Ibid., vol. 1019, No. 14956.

Stressing the importance of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime quality assurance programme for drug analysis laboratories, through which minimal but sufficient amounts of reference samples are distributed to participating laboratories of Member States, enabling continuous monitoring and improvement of their performance,

Concerned that costs and complex administrative procedures for obtaining required import/export certification and making available reference materials of controlled substances are disrupting routine analytical laboratory work,

1. Encourages the International Narcotics Control Board to continue its efforts to ensure the adequate availability of internationally controlled substances for scientific purposes, and encourages the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to consider providing adequate specifications of their quality, as far as they are available;

2. Requests Member States, in consultation with the International Narcotics Control Board and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, to review national procedures within their policy and legislative frameworks, as appropriate and in accordance with the provisions of the Conventions, in order not to impair access to reference and test samples of internationally controlled substances for scientific purposes;

3. Invites the International Narcotics Control Board and the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to work closely on feasible mechanisms that will facilitate the provision of minimal but sufficient amounts of reference and test samples of controlled substances to drug testing laboratories, including through the reinforcement of existing national programmes, as appropriate, in order to support their analytical and quality assurance work, and notes that such mechanisms may include the designation of national contact points, preferably the laboratories that are part of the Office's International Collaborative Exercise programme, and the implementation of efficient administrative procedures governing access to reference and test samples of controlled substances;

4. Recommends that the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime continue to support Member States in enhancing the analytical work of laboratories and the training of experts.

Resolution 54/4

Stressing the commitments contained in the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem,¹⁷

Recalling its resolution 52/6 of 20 March 2009, entitled “Promoting best practices and lessons learned for the sustainability and integrality of alternative development programmes”, in which it requested the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, in collaboration with relevant international bodies, to continue promoting best practices and lessons learned from alternative development programmes in various countries, including by organizing an international conference on that topic in 2010,

Also recalling its resolution 53/6 of 12 March 2010, entitled “Follow-up to the promotion of best practices and lessons learned for the sustainability and integrality of alternative development programmes and the proposal to organize an international workshop and conference on alternative development”, in which it welcomed the proposal of Peru and Thailand to jointly host an international workshop, back to back with an international conference, in close collaboration with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime,

Reaffirming the role played by developing countries in sharing best practices and promoting and strengthening cooperation on integral and sustainable alternative development, which includes in some cases preventive alternative development, including cross-continental and interregional cooperation and subregional and regional technical cooperation, as expressed in its resolution 53/6,

1. Acknowledges that alternative development¹⁸ is an important, lawful, viable and sustainable alternative to the illicit cultivation of drug crops, that it is one of the key components of policies and programmes for reducing illicit drug production and that it is an integral part of the efforts made by Governments to achieve sustainable development within their societies;

2. Notes with appreciation that Peru and Thailand remain committed to jointly organizing an international workshop and an international conference on alternative development, and welcomes the reiteration of the proposal by these two countries to jointly host the above-mentioned events, also taking into account that close collaboration with the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime is needed to share information and best practices and increase efforts in promoting this sustainable alternative to the illicit cultivation of drug crops;

3. Notes that the aim of the above-mentioned events is to gather inputs and contributions and to assess past and ongoing efforts for the future endeavour of developing a set of international guiding principles to serve as guidelines for more effective alternative development programmes in drug-producing areas, to be considered by the high-level representatives attending the above-mentioned international conference;

Resolution 54/5

Promoting rehabilitation- and reintegration-oriented strategies in response to drug use disorders and their consequences that are directed at promoting health and social well-being among individuals, families and communities

The Commission on Narcotic Drugs,

Recalling the Political Declaration adopted by the General Assembly at its twentieth special session¹⁹ and the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem,²⁰

¹⁸ In accordance with Economic and Social Council resolutions 2006/33, 2007/12 and 2008/26, the concept of alternative development includes preventive alternative development in a manner focusing on the sustainability and integrality of uplifting people's livelihood.

Recalling further General Assembly resolution 64/182 of 18 December 2009, on international cooperation against the world drug problem, in which the Assembly reiterated the commitment of Member States to promoting, developing, reviewing or strengthening effective, comprehensive, integrated drug demand reduction programmes, based on scientific evidence and covering a range of measures, including primary prevention, early intervention, treatment, care, rehabilitation, social integration and related support services, aimed at promoting health and well-being among individuals, families and communities and reducing the adverse consequences of drug abuse for individuals and society as a whole, taking into account the particular challenges posed by high-risk drug users, in full compliance with the three international drug control conventions and in accordance with national legislation,

Convinced also of the need to improve the quality, coverage and variety of demand reduction services, including those targeting rehabilitation, reintegration and relapse prevention, as part of a continuum of health and social care,

Recognizing that ensuring rehabilitation, reintegration and recovery are important elements of overall efforts to reduce the use of illicit drugs and its consequences,

Recognizing also that treatment systems have to be linked to drug use prevention activities aimed at providing youth, adults and communities with the knowledge, skills and opportunities to choose a healthy lifestyle, including targeted interventions for populations at high risk of drug use and support for vulnerable families, in a way that is complementary to treatment services,

Stressing the importance of a multisectoral and fully coordinated approach in which multiple government agencies and non-governmental organizations within communities participate in order to support the development of a full continuum of policies and programmes that promote prevention, early detection and intervention, treatment, care and related support services for rehabilitation, social reintegration and recovery,

Stressing also the importance of avoiding the discrimination, including the stigmatization and social marginalization, of dependent drug users and ensuring respect for their human rights and human dignity,

3. Also urges Member States to focus on prevention, treatment, care and related support services for drug users suffering from a drug-related disorder, as well as for their families, to develop effective interventions that lead to social reintegration, including supporting programmes to facilitate the employment of people in treatment and recovery that are tailored to their specific needs in the rehabilitation process, and to ensure interventions for the prevention of drug-related diseases that are directed at promoting health and social well-being among individuals, families and communities;

4. Further urges Member States to ensure that drug treatment is evidence-based, part of an integrated approach to drug demand reduction and recognized as a key element of national efforts aimed at reducing illicit drug use and its adverse health and social consequences, and to improve rehabilitation and reintegration services that are directed at promoting health and social well-being among individuals, families and communities;

5. Encourages Member States to provide a diverse range of treatment facilities, including medically assisted and psychosocial treatment and rehabilitation that match the needs of dependent drug users in all relevant social and clinical conditions;

Resolution 54/7

Paris Pact initiative

The Commission on Narcotic Drugs,

Reaffirming the commitments undertaken by Member States in the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem,³⁰ in which Member States decided to establish 2019 as a target date for States to eliminate or reduce significantly and measurably the illicit cultivation of opium poppy, coca bush and cannabis plant; the illicit demand for narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, and drug-related health and social risks; the illicit production, manufacture, marketing and distribution of, and trafficking in, psychotropic substances, including synthetic drugs; the diversion of and illicit trafficking in precursors; and money-laundering related to illicit drugs,

Welcoming the Paris Pact initiative and its two international conferences at the ministerial level, held in Paris in 2003 and in Moscow in 2006,

Taking note of the Afghanistan Opium Survey 2010, published by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, which reported stable illicit cultivation levels nationwide, as well as increased opium prices during the past year,

³⁰ See A/64/92-E/2009/98, sect. II.A.

Noting the report of the International Narcotics Control Board for 2010 on precursors and chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances,³¹ in which the Board refers to the need for sustained efforts in order to maintain the deterrent effect on traffickers of substances used in the illicit manufacture of heroin,

Expressing its support for the efforts of Member States aimed at strengthening international and regional cooperation, including implementation of initiatives to counter the threat posed by the illicit cultivation, trafficking and consumption of Afghan opiates,

Noting the international conferences on Afghanistan, held in London in January 2010 and in Kabul in July 2010, which included counter-narcotics as a cross-cutting theme,

Noting also the international forum “Drug production in Afghanistan: a challenge to the international community”, held in Moscow in June 2010,

1. Welcomes the decision taken by the reconvened meeting of the Paris Pact Policy Consultative Group held in Vienna on 17 March 2011 to convene in Vienna in the second half of 2011, in continuation of the Paris Pact initiative, an international conference at the ministerial level;

3. Invites all the parties concerned to take an active part in the international conference;

4. Requests the Executive Director of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, subject to the availability of extrabudgetary resources, to facilitate the organization and holding of the international conference and to report thereon to the Commission at its fifty-fifth session.

Resolution 54/8

Strengthening international cooperation and regulatory and institutional frameworks for the control of precursor chemicals used in the illicit manufacture of synthetic drugs

The Commission on Narcotic Drugs,

Recalling the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem,³² in which it was decided to establish 2019 as a target date for States to eliminate or reduce significantly and measurably the diversion of and trafficking in substances frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and ³¹ Precursors and Chemicals Frequently Used in the Illicit Manufacture of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances: Report of the International Narcotics Control Board for 2010 on the Implementation of Article 12 of the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988 (United Nations publication, Sales No. E.11.XI.4).

psychotropic substances, and in which it was also stated that, while legislative and regulatory controls have prevented the diversion into illicit channels of substances frequently used in the manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, such substances still reach clandestine drug laboratories,

Recalling also its resolutions 53/15 of 12 March 2010 and 51/10 of 14 March 2008, in which it urged Member States to further strengthen, update or, if they had not yet done so, establish national legislation and mechanisms relating to the control of precursors used in the illicit manufacture of drugs and emphasized the need for Member States to strengthen monitoring and control systems at the points of entry of precursor chemicals and to promote the secure transport of such substances,

Recalling further General Assembly resolution 59/162 of 20 December 2004, in which the Assembly emphasized the need to ensure that adequate mechanisms were in place to prevent the diversion of preparations containing chemicals listed in tables I and II of the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988³³ pertaining to illicit drug manufacture, in particular those containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine,

Recalling the United Nations resolutions calling on Member States to increase international and regional cooperation in order to counter the illicit manufacture of and trafficking in drugs, including by strengthening the control of the international trade in precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of drugs and preventing attempts to divert these substances from licit international trade to illicit use,

Reiterating the importance of further strengthening existing international cooperation mechanisms for the control of precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and the need for States to participate in international operations and projects currently being undertaken, such as Project Prism and Project Cohesion,

Recognizing the legitimate need, in particular of the industry and trade sectors, to have access to precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, as reflected in the Political Declaration and Plan of Action, and the important role of those sectors in preventing diversion from the licit manufacture of and trade in such substances,

Recognizing also the important work of the International Narcotics Control Board as the principal body and global focal point for the international control of precursors,

Re-emphasizing that the prevention of diversion of scheduled and non-scheduled precursor chemicals is a key element in reducing the illicit manufacture and supply of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances,

Reaffirming its concern about the alarming scale of the illicit manufacture of heroin, cocaine and synthetic drugs such as amphetamine-type stimulants worldwide, the associated diversion of precursor chemicals used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and the emergence of new methods used by organized criminal groups to divert such chemicals from licit trade,

Acknowledging the fact that diversion of pharmaceutical preparations³⁴ containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine is a concern and is a significant challenge for drug control authorities because such preparations may not be subject to a similar level of controls as bulk (raw) ephedrine and pseudoephedrine,

Acknowledging also that ephedrine and pseudoephedrine contained in pharmaceutical preparations can be easily extracted for use in the manufacture of amphetamine-type stimulants,

Taking note with appreciation of the positive results achieved thus far through Project Prism and Project Cohesion, launched by the International Narcotics Control Board in cooperation with States to stem the diversion of amphetamine-type stimulants and heroin and cocaine precursors, respectively,

Taking note of the offer by the Government of Peru to host, with the collaboration of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, a centre of excellence for the region of Latin America and the Caribbean, with the aim of developing training programmes for public officials on various aspects of precursor chemicals, including the exchange of good practices and experiences,

1. Encourages Governments to continue contributing to the efforts of the International Narcotics Control Board, especially through the Pre-Export Notification Online system for pre-export notification of precursor chemicals, and to also include, to the extent possible and in accordance with national legislation, pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine in these notifications, so as to favour the rapid identification of new patterns of diversion of precursor chemicals used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances;

2. Calls upon the International Narcotics Control Board to further strengthen communication with Member States and to work with them in identifying opportunities for more effective control and monitoring of the trade in precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances;

3. Urges Member States to further strengthen, update or, if they have not yet done so, establish national legislation and mechanisms relating to the control of precursors used in the illicit manufacture of drugs, pursuant to the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988;³⁵

4. Encourages Member States to adopt, where appropriate, regulatory frameworks to control the production, distribution and commercialization of pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine, to prevent diversion, including through the sending of pre-export notifications, without impairing the availability of essential pharmaceutical preparations for medical use;

³⁴ For the purposes of the present resolution, "pharmaceutical preparations" include those for both human and veterinary use.

³⁵ United Nations, Treaty Series, vol. 1582, No. 27627.

5. Also encourages Member States, consistent with its resolution 49/3 of 17 March 2009, to regularly review their estimated requirements for those chemicals listed in the resolution and provide the most recent data to the International Narcotics Control Board;

6. Invites Member States to consider, at the national level, expanding the list of precursor chemicals and substances under international control that are frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances;

7. Encourages Member States to apply similar control measures for pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine as those for bulk (raw) precursor chemicals;

8. Also encourages Member States in which different or additional regulatory entities are responsible for control of preparations, as distinct from the bulk (raw) precursor chemicals contained in such preparations, to ensure that the government entities coordinate and cooperate in their control efforts, with the objective of maintaining seamless and effective regulatory controls over both preparations and bulk (raw) precursor chemicals;

9. Further encourages Member States to consider strengthening, in accordance with their national legislation, overall control over and monitoring of the trade in precursor chemicals, including pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine, that can be easily used in, or recovered by readily applicable means for use in, the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, such as amphetamine-type stimulants, and to monitor, to the extent possible, the legitimate trade in such precursor chemicals and pharmaceutical preparations;

10. Encourages Member States to continue to provide the International Narcotics Control Board with pertinent information on the identification of any new precursor chemicals replacing those precursors frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, on the manufacture of such chemicals and on new means of synthesis and methods being used in the illicit production of drugs;

11. Invites Member States to take appropriate measures to strengthen international cooperation and the exchange of information regarding the identification of new routes and modi operandi of criminal organizations dedicated to the diversion or smuggling of precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, including with respect to the use of the Internet for illicit purposes, and to continue to notify the International Narcotics Control Board of such information;

12. Requests Member States to continue to submit to the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, through the annual report questionnaire, information related to cases of illicit traffic within their jurisdiction that they consider important because of new trends disclosed, the quantities involved, the sources from which the substances are obtained or the methods employed by persons so engaged, in line with the provisions of article 20 of the 1988 Convention;

13. Invites Member States to raise awareness of, and build capacity in addressing, the risks of diversion of pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine;

14. Emphasizes the need for Member States to strengthen monitoring and control systems at all points of entry and exit of precursor chemicals frequently used in the illicit manufacture of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances, including airports, seaports, river ports and customs posts, and promote the secure transport of such substances, and underlines the urgent need to increase international cooperation in this area, in particular to support the control efforts currently being undertaken by developing countries;

15. Encourages Member States to develop joint actions with their national chemical industry, as such actions greatly enhance access by regulatory authorities to important information relating to unusual sales and transactions of precursors;

16. Invites Member States to promote voluntary codes of conduct for the chemical industry, in accordance with the International Narcotics Control Board's Guidelines for a Voluntary Code of Practice for the Chemical Industry,³⁶ in order to promote responsible commercial practices and sale of chemicals, and prevent the diversion of chemicals to illicit drug manufacturing channels;

17. Invites the International Narcotics Control Board, in cooperation with Member States, to look into the issue of diversion of veterinary pharmaceutical preparations containing ephedrine and pseudoephedrine, as well as the measures adopted by States for its control, and invites interested Member States to make contributions for this purpose.

Resolution 54/9

The Commission on Narcotic Drugs,

Bearing in mind the provisions of the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs of 1961,³⁷ that Convention as amended by the 1972 Protocol,³⁸ the Convention on Psychotropic Substances of 1971³⁹ and the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988,⁴⁰

Aware of the need to establish adequate procedures to fulfil the mandates assigned to it with regard to the examination of reports submitted in accordance with the above-mentioned treaties,

³⁶ United Nations publication, Sales No. E.09.XI.17.

³⁷ United Nations, Treaty Series, vol. 520, No. 7515.

³⁸ Ibid., vol. 976, No. 14152.

³⁹ Ibid., vol. 1019, No. 14956.

⁴⁰ Ibid., vol. 1582, No. 27627.

Bearing in mind the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem,⁴¹ in which Member States took account of the need for indicators and instruments for the collection and analysis of accurate, reliable and comparable data on all relevant aspects of the world drug problem and, where appropriate, the enhancement or development of new indicators and instruments,

Bearing in mind also that, in the Political Declaration and Plan of Action, Member States committed themselves to report to the Commission on their efforts to fully implement the Political Declaration and Plan of Action,

Recalling its resolution 52/12 of 20 March 2009, in which it decided to convene an open-ended expert group on data collection to improve the collection, reporting and analysis of data to monitor the implementation of the Political Declaration and Plan of Action, which held two meetings, and its decision 53/2 of 10 March 2010, in which it reconvened the expert group convened pursuant to its resolution 52/12,

Noting with appreciation the efforts of the open-ended expert group on data collection to improve the collection, reporting and analysis of data to monitor the implementation of the Political Declaration and Plan of Action, as well as the reporting mandated by the three international drug control conventions,

Recalling its resolution 53/16 of 2 December 2010, in which it adopted the annual report questionnaire⁴² as submitted by the expert group on data collection, decided that it should be periodically reviewed in order to have a flexible international instrument allowing the reporting of national and emerging drug situations and responses, taking into account the needs and challenges of balancing the collection of qualitative and quantitative data and information, and requested the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to carry out such reviews, taking into consideration, among other things, the challenges identified and the recommendations made by the reconvened expert group on data collection,⁴³

Noting the importance of ensuring coherence among the annual report questionnaire and other reporting tools within the United Nations system and of other international and regional organizations,

Noting also regional efforts, such as the recent efforts in the region of Oceania, to improve data collection, and recognizing that lessons may be learned from these experiences,

Noting with concern the 2011 report of the Secretariat on the world situation with regard to drug abuse,⁴⁴ which raises concern about the fact that there is a lack of current information on most of the epidemiological indicators on drug use, caused by a lack of sustainable drug information and monitoring systems in some parts of the world, which hinders the monitoring of changing and emerging trends, the implementation of evidence-based responses and the ability to assess the effectiveness of those responses,

Recalling further that in its resolution 52/13, it emphasized that the working group, in its formal and informal meetings, should be a forum for dialogue among Member States and between Member States and the Secretariat on the development of the programmes of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime,

Reaffirming the role of the Commission on Narcotic Drugs as the principal policymaking organ of the United Nations on matters of international drug control and as the governing body of the drug programme of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime,

Reaffirming also Economic and Social Council resolutions 2009/23 of 30 July 2009, entitled “Support for the development and implementation of the regional programmes of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime”, 2010/17 of 22 July 2010, entitled “Realignment of the functions of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and changes to the strategic framework”, and 2010/20 of 22 July 2010, entitled “Support for the development and implementation of an integrated approach to programme development at the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime”, and Commission on Narcotic Drugs resolution 52/14 of 2 December 2009, entitled “Budget for the biennium 2010-2011 for the Fund of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme”,

6. Requests the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, when developing relevant regional and thematic programmes, including initiatives and national activities related to such programmes, to consider the needs of and consult with the States most affected by the transit of drugs, including through specific programme activities that meet their needs for technical and financial assistance;

7. Calls upon the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime, in providing assistance to such States, to adopt a comprehensive approach, where appropriate, that takes into consideration possible links between trafficking in drugs and the increase in drug abuse in transit States and their needs regarding the reduction and prevention of illicit drug demand, including the treatment, rehabilitation and reintegration of drug-dependent persons;

8. Requests the Executive Director of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to report to the Commission, at its fifty-sixth session, on the implementation of the present resolution.

Chapter II

Policy directives to the drug programme of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and strengthening the drug programme and the role of the Commission on Narcotic Drugs as its governing body, including administrative, budgetary and strategic management questions

4. At its 2nd meeting, on 22 March, the Commission considered agenda item 3, which read as follows:

“Policy directives to the drug programme of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and strengthening the drug programme and the role of the Commission on Narcotic Drugs as its governing body, including administrative, budgetary and strategic management questions:

“(a) Work of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and policy directives;

“(b) Role of the Commission as the governing body of the drug programme of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime;

“(i) Strengthening the drug programme of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime;

“(ii) Administrative, budgetary and strategic management questions.”

5. For its consideration of item 3, the Commission had before it the following documents:

(a) Report of the Executive Director on activities of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (E/CN.7/2011/3-E/CN.15/2011/3);

(b) Report of the Executive Director on support for the development and implementation of the regional programmes of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (E/CN.7/2011/6-E/CN.15/2011/6);

6. Also at the 2nd meeting, the Executive Director of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC), the Director for Management of UNODC and a representative of the Joint Inspection Unit made introductory statements.

7. Statements were made by the representatives of Thailand (on behalf of the States Members of the United Nations that are members of the Group of 77 and China), Colombia (on behalf of the States Members of the United Nations that are members of the Group of Latin American and Caribbean States), India, the United States of America, Canada and China. Statements were also made by the observers for Norway, Indonesia, Sweden, Japan and the Republic of Korea. The observer for the Sovereign Military Order of Malta also made a statement.

A. Deliberations

8. A number of speakers considered the standing open-ended intergovernmental working group on improving the governance and financial situation of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime to be a useful forum for discussion and consultation among Member States and with the Secretariat and expressed appreciation for its work in terms of programme endorsement and review.

9. Several speakers called for measures to address the funding situation of the Office, including an increased share of general purpose funds to support its core and normative functions, additional extrabudgetary contributions and “soft” earmarking, a broadened donor base and increased cooperation with the private sector.

10. Several speakers welcomed the re-establishment of the Independent Evaluation Unit of the Office and underlined the importance of its operational independence.

11. A number of speakers called for an updated medium-term strategy of the Office for the period 2012-2015.

12. A number of speakers stressed the need for results-based reporting and management.

13. Several speakers welcomed the move by the Office away from a project-based approach to an integrated programme-based approach and expressed support for the development and implementation of regional and thematic programmes. Several speakers highlighted the importance of adequate, predictable and sustainable funding to ensure the implementation of the thematic and regional programmes. Some speakers stated that the move to an integrated programme approach could help to improve the funding situation of the Office.

14. Some speakers recognized that the integrated programme approach had strengthened national and regional ownership, which would promote sustainability.

15. Several speakers also referred to the need to ensure a human rights-based and gender-sensitive approach throughout the programming process and encouraged the Office to work closely with other agencies in developing and implementing programmes. They also highlighted the importance of delivering as one United Nations at the country level.

16. Some speakers called for gender balance and equitable geographical representation among staff members of the Office.

B. Action taken by the Commission

17. At its 2nd meeting, on 22 March 2011, the Commission adopted the draft resolution entitled “Implementation of the budget for the biennium 2010-2011 for the Fund of the United Nations International Drug Control Programme” (E/CN.7/2011/11-E/CN.15/2011/11, annex III). (For the text, see chap. I, sect. C, resolution 54/1.)

18. At its 9th meeting, on 25 March 2011, the Commission approved for adoption by the Economic and Social Council a draft decision (E/CN.7/2011/L.16) introduced by Sweden and the United States and submitted on the recommendation of the standing open-ended intergovernmental working group on improving the governance and financial situation of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime. (For the text, see chap. I, sect. B, draft decision II.)

19. At the same meeting, the Commission adopted a draft resolution (E/CN.7/2011/L.17) sponsored by Algeria, Costa Rica, Denmark, Finland, Guatemala, Indonesia, Italy, Mexico, Norway, Pakistan, Sweden, Switzerland and the United States. (For the text, see chap. I, sect. C, resolution 54/10.) Prior to the adoption of the draft resolution, a representative of the Secretariat read out a statement on the financial implications of such adoption. (For the text, see E/CN.7/2011/CRP.5, available on the UNODC website.) Following adoption of the resolution, the representative of the Netherlands made a statement with reference to the draft decision contained in document E/CN.7/2011/L.16 and the draft resolution contained in document E/CN.7/2011/L.17, stressing her Government’s support for ongoing efforts to improve the governance and financial situation of UNODC and the extension of the mandate of the working group. She stated that, in her Government’s view, while the standing open-ended intergovernmental working group on improving the governance and financial situation of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime was mandated to make recommendations, it was not mandated to propose draft resolutions. The representative of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland also made a statement in which he noted that his Government interpreted the concept of “sufficient share of the regular budget of the United Nations” contained in paragraph 12 of the resolution as consistent with the need for further streamlining and rationalization within the Secretariat and other United Nations entities. The two representatives expressed the view that there had been insufficient opportunity for the Commission to further discuss the decision and the resolution, contrary to what was expressly stated in paragraph 8 of document E/CN.7/2011/9-E/CN.15/2011/9.

20. At the same meeting, the Commission approved for adoption by the Economic and Social Council a draft resolution (E/CN.7/2011/L.14), as revised, sponsored by France, Indonesia (on behalf of the Group of 77 and China), Israel, Italy, Mexico, Poland, Spain, Sweden and the United States. (For the text, see chap. I, sect. A, draft resolution.)

Chapter III

Round-table discussions

21. On 21 March, the Commission considered over the course of two meetings agenda item 5, "Round-table discussions", comprising the following topics:

(a) Regional and international cooperation in combating the world drug problem and its connection with organized crime;

(b) Revitalization of the principle of common and shared responsibility as the centrepiece of international cooperation to confront the challenges posed by the world drug problem, in a manner consistent with the relevant United Nations conventions and declarations;

(c) Addressing key public health and safety issues such as addictive behaviours by youth and drugged driving.

22. The Commission had before it a note by the Secretariat on the organization of the round-table discussions at the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth sessions (E/CN.7/2011/8).

Round table on regional and international cooperation in combating the world drug problem and its connection with organized crime

23. The round table on regional and international cooperation in combating the world drug problem and its connection with organized crime was chaired by Mahmoud Hassan Elamin (Sudan).

24. At the round table, it was reiterated that the international drug control conventions, together with the international legal instruments addressing transnational organized crime, provided the legislative framework to support international cooperation and coordination in combating drug trafficking, as well as direction to international efforts in the area of supply and demand reduction. In that regard, the international community had made a commitment to the shared goal by adopting the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem.⁷⁴

25. There was a need for a balanced and holistic approach in combating the world drug problem through national, regional and multilateral efforts. Drug trafficking had to be seen in the broader context of organized crime and had a negative impact on peace, development and security. Closer professional liaison between authorities, support through bilateral training and professional capacity-building and a common agreement on the need for coordinated international strategies were seen as examples of positive cooperation.

26. Proactive law enforcement strategies and operational responses were putting pressure on traffickers and organized criminal networks to limit their expansion and their profits from illicit drug trafficking. In order to make those efforts more effective, greater cooperation, responsiveness and flexibility among States in support of mutual legal assistance and judicial cooperation were needed.

27. Proposals for action included joint regional and international initiatives such as the investigation of offenders, the undertaking of controlled deliveries, the exchange of information and the sharing of specialist expertise in areas such as combating money-laundering, asset seizure and civil forfeiture.

28. The importance of maintaining the right balance in the delivery of demand reduction and treatment programmes complemented and supported by law enforcement initiatives was highlighted.

Round table on revitalization of the principle of common and shared responsibility as the centrepiece of international cooperation to confront the challenges posed by the world drug problem, in a manner consistent with the relevant United Nations conventions and declarations

29. The round table on revitalization of the principle of common and shared responsibility as the centrepiece of international cooperation to confront the challenges posed by the world drug problem, in a manner consistent with the relevant United Nations conventions and declarations, was chaired by Rómulo Pizarro (Peru), Executive President of the National Commission for Development and Life without Drugs (DEVIDA).

30. Action against the world drug problem remained a common and shared responsibility that required effective and increased international cooperation. It demanded an integrated, multidisciplinary, mutually reinforcing and balanced approach to supply and demand reduction.

31. Increasing illicit drug production and trafficking posed global challenges that needed to be tackled at the national, regional and international levels, in accordance with the principle of common and shared responsibility, including by means of enhanced and better coordinated technical and financial assistance.

32. Drug trafficking was an evolving phenomenon, as demonstrated by changes in the use of precursors, new drug trafficking routes and methods, including by mail and via the Internet, the manufacture of new types of drugs and new areas of cultivation.

33. There should be a greater commitment by consumer countries to supporting the efforts of producer countries in terms of technical assistance, legislative development and capacity-building.

34. It was important to strengthen the exchange of information at the bilateral, regional and international levels and strengthen joint operations and coordination among States.

35. Some countries had made progress in combating the world drug problem, to a large extent through international cooperation. For progress to be sustainable, international cooperation needed to be maintained and the trend of declining aid flows reversed. A weakening of international cooperation could affect the sustainability of national achievements. It was suggested that a report on international aid flows could assist in identifying areas where cooperation could be strengthened.

36. It was important to share experiences and good practices so as to embody the principle of shared responsibility. Reference was made to South-South cooperation in reducing the supply of and demand for drugs that had taken into account regional aspects common to the countries involved.

37. In some subregions in Asia, results in reducing supply had not been comparable to results achieved in other subregions, and it was necessary to strengthen the commitment of destination countries to increasing aid flows.

38. The links between drug trafficking, money-laundering and arms trafficking must be recognized and addressed. Drug trafficking was also linked to high levels of violence and corruption.

39. The principle of shared responsibility should be applied fairly and equitably. The responsibilities of each country in terms of drug production and consumption, weapons and corruption should be critically assessed.

40. The distinction between producer, consumer and transit countries was no longer valid. Under the principle of common and shared responsibility, all countries must take responsibility at all stages of the illicit drug chain.

41. Shared responsibility meant sharing tools for prevention and control, combating money-laundering and providing treatment and care, as well as well-functioning penal systems. Shared responsibility meant not finger-pointing but, rather, increased cooperation.

Round table on addressing key public health and safety issues such as addictive behaviours by youth and drugged driving

42. The round table on addressing key public health and safety issues such as addictive behaviours by youth and drugged driving was chaired by Alberto Groff (Switzerland).

43. Drugged driving was increasingly becoming a public safety and public health issue.

44. Data on the issue were patchy, and more needed to be done by Member States and the international community to collect reliable information on the extent, trends and patterns of that phenomenon, to develop standard and low-cost screening tools and to disseminate good practices on appropriate methodologies.

45. Addressing addictive behaviour, especially drugged driving, required concerted action, including prevention and raising awareness of the risks of drug use.

46. Drugged driving among young people was only part of a broader phenomenon transcending national boundaries, by which patterns of use were changing towards polysubstance use and consumption in public spaces.

47. Addressing such behaviour required a holistic response targeting personal vulnerabilities, starting at as young an age as possible and in a range of settings (schools, the community, families and entertainment venues), linking to the early identification of drug use and brief intervention, as well as drug dependence treatment and care when needed. A multisectoral, community-based approach was needed.

48. The development of appropriate legislation and enforcement with regard to the issue of drugged driving was an issue in many countries. Only limited research and experience existed with regard to the appropriate limits and standards with respect to impairment. That should be done in full respect of personal integrity.

49. The further exchange of experiences with regard to that and other issues would be welcome. Reference was made to initiatives in Europe and North America that might provide a good opportunity for such exchange. It was noted that research protocols had been developed by some States and that those could be further examined.

50. Enforcement should always be part of a broader policy including strong links to prevention and treatment, especially campaigns to raise awareness and understanding among the target population, in particular more focused work targeting youth. Law enforcement staff should be supported through increased training.

Chapter IV

Implementation of the international drug control treaties

51. At its 3rd and 4th meetings, on 22 and 23 March, the Commission considered agenda item 4, which read as follows:

“Implementation of the international drug control treaties:

“(a) Changes in the scope of control of substances;

“(b) International Narcotics Control Board;

“(c) International cooperation to ensure the availability of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances for medical and scientific purposes while preventing their diversion;

“(d) Other matters arising from the international drug control treaties.”

52. For its consideration of item 4, the Commission had before it the following documents:

(a) Report of the International Narcotics Control Board for 2010 (E/INCB/2010/1);

(b) Report of the International Narcotics Control Board on the Availability of Internationally Controlled Drugs: Ensuring Adequate Access for Medical and Scientific Purposes (E/INCB/2010/1/Supp.1);

(c) Precursors and Chemicals Frequently Used in the Illicit Manufacture of Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances: Report of the International Narcotics Control Board for 2010 on the Implementation of Article 12 of the United Nations Convention against Illicit Traffic in Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances of 1988 (E/INCB/2010/4).

53. Introductory statements were made by the President of the International Narcotics Control Board (under item 4 (b) and (c)), a representative of the Secretariat (under item 4 (c)) and the observer for the World Health Organization (WHO) (under item 4 (c)). Statements were made by the representatives of Colombia (on behalf of the Group of Latin American and Caribbean States) and the observer for Hungary (on behalf of the European Union and Albania, Andorra, Armenia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Croatia, Iceland, Liechtenstein, Montenegro, Norway, the Republic of Moldova, San Marino, Serbia, the former Yugoslav Republic of Macedonia, Turkey and Ukraine). Statements were also made by the representatives of China, India, Cameroon, Switzerland, Thailand, El Salvador, the Sudan, the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, the Plurinational State of Bolivia, Morocco, Belgium, Australia, the United Kingdom, Chile, the United States, Peru and the Russian Federation.

54. Statements were also made by the observers for Japan, Mexico, the Republic of Korea, Sri Lanka, Croatia, the Philippines and Indonesia, as well as by the observers for WHO and the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies.

A. Deliberations

1. Changes in the scope of control of substances

55. Some speakers noted the emerging abuse of non-controlled substances in many regions. Particular concern was noted with regard to the abuse of ketamine, which had been placed under national control in a number of countries, and some speakers called for ketamine to be placed under international control as soon as possible.

2. International Narcotics Control Board

56. Many speakers expressed appreciation for the report of the International Narcotics Control Board, which served as an up-to-date source of information for Governments. Two speakers expressed concern regarding the presentation of inaccurate information in the report and called on the Board to ensure that its annual report took into consideration information primarily provided by Governments and to maintain a dialogue with Governments.

57. The importance of adherence to the international drug control conventions was highlighted by many speakers. Reiterating that the primary goal of the treaties was to safeguard health, some speakers stated that more attention should be paid to drug demand reduction.

58. Several speakers underlined the importance of shared responsibility in implementing the international drug control conventions, highlighting the necessity of harmonizing and coordinating strategies and policies. The need for technical cooperation and technical assistance in developing countries and the importance of sharing information, especially on recently detected substances, were also highlighted.

59. Many speakers referred to the thematic chapter of the Board's report, on drug-related corruption, noting the extent and severity of the problem and the risk posed by corruption to international drug control. Concrete action by the international community, in cooperation with civil society, was required to address drug-related corruption.

60. A number of speakers recognized the role of the Board as a global focal point for the facilitation of precursor control initiatives. Several speakers noted the need for wider use of the Pre-Export Notification Online (PEN Online) system, particularly in Africa, and for timely responses to suspicious transactions.

61. The work of the Board in providing countries with timely information on imports and exports of internationally controlled substances was recognized as playing a key role in preventing diversion.

62. A number of speakers made presentations on national and regional action to address the issue of synthetic cannabinoid receptor agonists and "designer drugs".

3. International cooperation to ensure the availability of narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances for medical and scientific purposes while preventing their diversion

63. Many speakers expressed the view that the goals of ensuring the availability of drugs for medical and scientific purposes while preventing their diversion were not mutually exclusive. Some speakers urged vigilance to ensure that efforts to improve availability did not cause an undue relaxation of drug control policies.

64. Many speakers noted with grave concern the findings of the Board's report that 80 per cent of the world's population had limited or no access to opioid analgesics for the treatment of pain and that approximately 90 per cent of the global consumption of opioid analgesics took place in developed countries.

65. Many speakers drew attention to the barriers to improved availability of internationally controlled drugs and called on the International Narcotics Control Board, UNODC and WHO to improve the availability of internationally controlled drugs for medical purposes, for example through capacity-building, the Access to Controlled Medications Programme or the development of updated model laws. The importance of the economic accessibility of internationally controlled medicines was emphasized by some speakers.

66. Some speakers noted that national capacity to assess the estimates for narcotic drugs and psychotropic substances and to report to the International Narcotics Control Board was limited and invited the Board to assist Governments in fulfilling their reporting obligations, particularly by building the capacity of competent national authorities.

4. Other matters arising from the international drug control treaties

67. Some delegations expressed concern that the WHO Expert Committee on Drug Dependence had not been convened to assess substances for possible scheduling under the Single Convention on Narcotic Drugs of 1961⁷⁵ and the Convention on Psychotropic Substances of 1971⁷⁶ and, noting the role of the Expert Committee within the drug control system, called for the resumption of its activities as soon as possible.

B. Action taken by the Commission

68. At its 9th meeting, on 25 March 2011, the Commission adopted a revised draft resolution (E/CN.7/2011/L.3/Rev.1) sponsored by Albania, Canada, Chile, Croatia, El Salvador, Hungary (on behalf of the European Union), Iceland, Kenya, New Zealand, Nigeria, Norway, Serbia, Switzerland, Ukraine, Uruguay, Zambia and Zimbabwe. (For the text, see chap. I, sect. C, resolution 54/3.)

69. At the same meeting, the Commission adopted a revised draft resolution (E/CN.7/2011/L.9/Rev.1) sponsored by Argentina, Australia, Canada, Chile, Colombia, El Salvador, Hungary (on behalf of the European Union), Indonesia, Israel, Kenya, Mexico, New Zealand, Nigeria, Norway, Peru, the Philippines, the Russian Federation, the Sudan, the United States, Uruguay, Thailand, Venezuela (Bolivarian Republic of), Zambia and Zimbabwe. (For the text, see chap. I, sect. C, resolution 54/6.) Prior to the adoption of the revised draft resolution, a representative of the Secretariat read out a statement on the financial implications of such adoption. (For the text, see E/CN.7/2011/CRP.5, available on the UNODC website.)

⁷⁶ Ibid., vol. 1019, No. 14956.

70. At the same meeting, the Commission adopted a revised draft resolution (E/CN.7/2011/L.5/Rev.1) sponsored by Argentina, Australia, Canada, Chile, Colombia, El Salvador, Guatemala, Hungary (on behalf of the European Union), Japan, Kenya, Mexico, New Zealand, Nigeria, Norway, Pakistan, Peru, the Russian Federation, Suriname, Thailand, the United States, Zambia and Zimbabwe. (For the text, see chap. I, sect. C, resolution 54/8.)

Chapter V

71. At its 5th, 6th and 7th meetings, on 23 and 24 March, the Commission considered agenda item 6, which read as follows:

“Implementation of the Political Declaration and Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem:

“(a) Demand reduction and related measures;

“(b) Supply reduction and related measures;

“(c) Countering money-laundering and promoting judicial cooperation to enhance international cooperation.”

Statements were also made by the representatives of the Islamic Republic of Iran, Israel, Austria, China, Spain, the Netherlands, Chile, the Czech Republic, the United Kingdom, Pakistan, the United States, the Sudan, Brazil, Morocco, the Bolivarian Republic of Venezuela, Thailand, Peru, Colombia, the Russian Federation and Argentina. Statements were also made by the observers for Guinea-Bissau, Kyrgyzstan, Norway, South Africa, Portugal, Slovakia, the Dominican Republic, Ecuador, the Philippines, the Republic of Korea, Japan, Mexico, Indonesia, Algeria, Zambia, Lebanon, Nigeria, Turkey, the Syrian Arab Republic, Afghanistan, Egypt and Zimbabwe. Statements were also made by the observers for the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/AIDS, WHO, the Canadian Centre on Substance Abuse on behalf of the Vienna NGO Committee, and the Society for Threatened Peoples.

A. Deliberations

1. Demand reduction and related measures

74. Many speakers welcomed the stabilization of the level of use of amphetamine-type stimulants, cannabis, cocaine and opioids in many regions, but expressed concern over the increase in the use of new synthetic and prescription drugs. Several speakers expressed concern over the increase in the use of amphetamine-type stimulants and cocaine in Asia and cocaine and cannabis in Africa. Speakers also expressed concern regarding the trend of increasing diversion of amphetamine-type stimulants from licit distribution channels.

75. Many speakers noted the high prevalence of drug abuse among women and children. They underlined the need to monitor the situation of women and children and address their needs with respect to drug abuse prevention, treatment and care services.

76. Some speakers reiterated the importance of quality data for the monitoring of progress in the implementation of national programmes, the evaluation of interventions and evidence-based policymaking and the monitoring of the implementation of the Plan of Action on International Cooperation towards an Integrated and Balanced Strategy to Counter the World Drug Problem through the annual report questionnaire. Several speakers also reiterated the need for technical assistance and capacity-building in that area and the need for the identification and sharing of best practices.

77. Representatives raised the following issues: the need to respond to new challenges related to illicit drug use, particularly among youth, such as new synthetic substances and the non-medical use of prescription drugs; the importance of a health-related approach and drug demand reduction as indispensable pillars of drug control, including prevention of drug abuse (especially in schools and families and through awareness-raising), drug dependence treatment, reintegration and rehabilitation and the prevention of the health and social consequences of drug abuse, most notably HIV, hepatitis and overdose; the need to base policies on scientific evidence and respect for the human rights and dignity of all individuals in need; notwithstanding the development of enhanced drug prevention, treatment and care, the need for increased resources and multisectoral collaboration at the national, regional and international levels owing to the fact that coverage and quality were still inadequate, particularly in prison settings; the importance of evaluating interventions; and the crucial role played by non-governmental organizations and civil society.

78. Several speakers stated that harm reduction was an integral part of the demand reduction policies of their Governments.

2. Supply reduction and related measures

79. A number of speakers referred to the need for States to accurately collect and share data on drug supply in order to effectively address drug trafficking. Findings indicating a decrease in illicit cultivation of opium poppy in Afghanistan were welcomed. The need to develop assistance strategies with interventions that included food security and sustainable incomes was flagged as a cornerstone of regional security, good governance and protecting the health of affected communities. Several speakers noted an increase in illicit cannabis production and trafficking in their countries.

80. Representatives also discussed the following matters: the need for enhanced international efforts to reduce illicit cannabis plant cultivation, the provision of resources and technical assistance, the sharing of best practices and lessons learned and the importance of addressing the growing links between drug trafficking and organized crime.

81. One speaker emphasized that the concept of common and shared responsibility ought to go beyond its current state and be translated into concrete action, with a view to putting in place constructive and realistic cooperation.

82. Several speakers called for more international cooperation to reduce illicit drug production and for greater coordination in maritime law enforcement initiatives to investigate and intercept drug trafficking operations. The Economic Community of West African States (ECOWAS)/UNODC programme response in West Africa to the challenge of cocaine trafficking was welcomed.

83. Global manufacture of amphetamine-type stimulants and the maintenance of effective controls over precursor chemicals were matters of great concern, with speakers endorsing international initiatives such as Project Prism and the universal use of pre-export notifications. Several speakers outlined specific national and regional initiatives that Governments had engaged in to strengthen cooperation to combat trafficking. They also expressed concern about the trend of increasing diversion of precursor chemicals from domestic consumption channels. There was consensus that global supply reduction was a shared responsibility requiring an integrated and balanced approach at the national, regional and international levels.

84. Several speakers called for increased technical and financial assistance for alternative development programmes that included preventive alternative development. The need to provide licit income-generating opportunities for farmers was underlined, as well as the need to address the problems involving poverty, food security and other humanitarian needs.

85. Several speakers recognized the success achieved in reducing illicit drug crop cultivation as a result of alternative development initiatives, including preventive alternative development projects, that addressed matters including awareness-raising, eradication and the rule of law.

86. Many speakers informed the Commission about their efforts and achievements in drug supply reduction at the national, regional and international levels, and the Triangular Initiative was cited as an example of good practice in regional cooperation. Several speakers welcomed the development by UNODC of a new regional programme for Afghanistan and neighbouring countries, in consultation with Member States in that area. UNODC efforts in enhancing the Paris Pact initiative and the most recent recommendations of the Paris Pact partners to develop a more integrated regional strategy to deal with drug trafficking, chemical precursor control and drug-related criminal intelligence were also noted. Some speakers referred to the comprehensive regional programme for West Africa for the period 2010-2014, developed by UNODC in close cooperation with ECOWAS in order to fight organized crime.

3. Countering money-laundering and promoting judicial cooperation to enhance international cooperation

87. Several speakers noted the importance of fighting money-laundering, which had become increasingly sophisticated and transnational in nature, and called for a strengthening of regional and international cooperation and compliance with international standards. They also recognized the efforts of UNODC in providing technical assistance to counter money-laundering and underlined the need for further capacity-building, in particular for law enforcement agencies.

88. Some speakers suggested that greater consideration be given to the effectiveness of measures to counter money-laundering, in particular with regard to the forfeiture of the proceeds of crime, as the amounts forfeited remained low compared with the magnitude of the laundered funds moving through the financial system.

B. Action taken by the Commission

89. At its 9th meeting, on 25 March 2011, the Commission adopted a revised draft resolution (E/CN.7/2011/L.2/Rev.2) sponsored by Albania, Algeria, Australia, Brazil, Canada, Chile, China, Costa Rica, Hungary (on behalf of the European Union), Israel, Kazakhstan, Mexico, Nigeria, Norway, Peru, the Russian Federation, the Sudan, the United States and Uruguay.
