² A/77/7/Add.22.

³ A/77/88.

⁴ A/77/88/Add.1.

3. Takes note of paragraph 5 of the report of the Advisory Committee, recalls that the Secretary-General has not submitted a final, full and accurate report on the implementation of the previous information and communications technology strategy, and requests that the detailed time-bound implementation road map for the information and communications technology strategy include lessons learned;

4. Recalls paragraph 6 of the report of the Advisory Committee, and requests the Secretary-General to make every effort to implement expeditiously the recommendations of the oversight bodies and effectively address the root causes underlying, and to provide updated information on the status of, open recommendations of the oversight bodies in his next report on information and communications technology;

5. Acknowledges the information and communications technology strategy of the Secretary-General as a critical enabler of the mandates of the Organization that is intended to define the high-level strategic vision, principles and expected outcomes of information and communications technology activities across the Secretariat, and encourages the Secretary-General to strengthen system-wide interoperability and potential synergies;

6. Takes note of paragraph 26 of the report of the Advisory Committee;

7. Recalls paragraphs 12 and 44 of the report of the Advisory Committee, and requests the Secretary-General to submit refined elements of the information and communications technology strategy by no later than the seventy-ninth session that include:

(a) More clarity and precision on the vision and intended objectives of the strategy, identifying for each objective concrete actions to achieve them, taking into account current status, existing and envisaged challenges and risks, including cybersecurity, lessons learned and interlinkages with related initiatives;

(b) Key performance indicators, deliverables and a clear and effective governance and accountability framework that clarifies the balance between central control and operational freedom;

(c) Estimates of the resources needed for the implementation of the strategy made with a view to rationalizing the allocation of existing information and communications technology expenditures and avoiding duplication and overlaps;

(d) The Secretary-General's efforts in leveraging the power of technology innovation in the pursuit of the objectives of the Organization in particular the implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development;⁵

(e) An outreach component to promote awareness of the human resources and vendor opportunities, including from developing countries and countries with economies in transition;

8. Also recalls paragraph 19 of the report of the Advisory Committee, emphasizes that coherence of information and communications technology deployment throughout the Organization is critical to deliver mandates and requires stronger and more unified governance, and stresses that the authority, responsibilities and accountability of the Chief Information Technology Officer and delegation of authority principles will be fully clarified in the governance framework of the refined strategy;

9. Further recalls paragraph 23 of the report of the Advisory Committee, and requests the Secretary-General to clarify the elements of the information and
